Seaholme mums raise big money — and have fun

The Seaholme Primary School Mothers' Club is working hard and imaginatively to raise money for upgrading the school's playing field.

• A witch gets the treatment from first aid.

• The school principal, Mr. Peter Fanning, was well and truly tied up in the proceedings.

A works programme to cost $19,500, including sprinkler and draining system, is planned.

Altona City Council is doing the work, and is contributing $6000.

The school's contribution is $8500 and the mother's club has already raised $4000.

Stage one includes construction of football field, soccer field and softball diamond.

Stage two is playground development, including upgrading the adventure playground, a jumping complex and a 300-metre running track.

There are also plans for an extensive tree-planting programme.

Last week the mothers arranged a fancy-dress basketball game between themselves and the teachers to help their fund-raising programme.

• Fashion scene posed by mothers during the basketball game.

Man had $3000 drugs and $1200 cash

By John Dixon

Police found marijuana worth about $3000 and $1200 from the sale of it when they searched a West Footscray house last month, Footscray Court was told last Thursday.

Mr. W. Guy, SM, sentenced the owner of the drugs to a total of 27 months' imprisonment. This, with some sentences concurrent, is reduced to an effective total of 18 months.

He ordered that the $1200 be forfeited and paid into consolidated revenue and directed, the man serve six months before becoming eligible for parole.

Alan Patrick Hamilton, of Coronation Street, West Footscray, was sentenced to six months on each of two charges of selling Indian hemp; six months for possessing the drug LSD; three months for possessing Indian hemp and six months for unlawful possession of $1200.

Mr. Guy was told the Indian hemp had been sold to finance Hamilton's and his de-facto wife's addiction to heroin.

Sergeant Alan Graham, of Sunshine Crime Car Squad, gave evidence he led a police raid on a house in Moonee Ponds last December 12.

Hamilton opened the door to him and agreed to a search of the house. Inside they found a number of people and a number of packages of Indian hemp.

As they were searching, Hamilton escaped through a window of the lounge room, Sgt. Graham said.

He noticed before the escape Hamilton had a large quantity of money in his shirt pocket.

On March 2, he was introduced to Hamilton at Sunshine CIB office and received an admission the money in his pocket at Moonee Ponds — about $400 — was from the sale of marijuana.

Hamilton went with police to the Coronation Street house, where a search of a shed at the back uncovered Indian hemp, in various forms, estimated by Hamilton to have a market value of about $3000. They also found the $1200 cash wrapped in plastic.

Hamilton admitted this was from the sale of Indian hemp and was a 'bank' to buy more for re-sale.

Several LSD tablets were also found and Hamilton admitted in the past he had injected himself with heroin, morphine and cocaine.

To Mr. R. Jacobs, for Hamilton, Sgt. Graham said as far as he knew, Hamilton sold only marijuana and this was to support his and his de-facto wife's addiction to heroin.

Sgt. Graham, prosecuting, said Hamilton had prior convictions.

Mr. Jacobs said Hamilton's past had been "tragic and turbulent."

At the age of three he was placed in an orphanage and in the next 10 years the only contact he had with his parents was one visit from his father when he was five.

When he was 13 he ran away from the orphanage, was made a ward of the State and placed in Turana youth training centre. He escaped from there several times.

When he was 16 he was given 10 and turned loose. Soon afterwards, still at the age of 16, he was sent to Pentridge for six months.

A fortnight after his release he was again in trouble and sent to Pentridge for three years. This pattern was followed until he reached the age 29.

He then went to Western Australia and worked; but returned to Melbourne, when the drug problem began.

He met his de-facto wife, who had been experimenting with drugs, and both sank into drug addiction. They had to find a way to pay for this, so began selling marijuana.

The situation had now changed, Mr. Jacobs said. Both were physically free from drug addiction, still undergoing treatment. This would have to continue for some time.

Since meeting his de-facto wife, he had found, for the first time in his life, someone he cared for and a feeling of security.

He had also found, since his arrest, there were people prepared to help him.

His de-facto wife was pregnant and they proposed to marry before the child was born.

They were anxious to settle down and lead a normal life in the community.

Mr. David Bruce, a psychiatrist specialising in drug addiction, said he was treating both Hamilton and the woman, and Hamilton was also receiving treatment at rehabilitation centres.

From when he first visited him, voluntarily, he had been impressed with Hamilton's insight of his problem.

He had responded extremely well to treatment and counselling but needed continuing treatment on a reducing basis.

Mr. Bruce said he felt "unusually confident" about both his and her rehabilitation.

If Hamilton could be released on probation, it would allow them to continue to help each other continue to beat the addiction and receive treatment together, which was desirable.

Mr. Guy said he realised Hamilton's life had been tragic and selling drugs had been the result of addiction. He realised Hamilton was now a different person.

But sellers of drugs must realise if they were caught they could go to prison, he added.

In the circumstances he could not be as lenient as had been requested on Hamilton's behalf. Treatment could be received in prison.

Sgt. Graham withdrew a number of other charges connected with the possession and use of drugs of addiction.

Museum gets whistle back

That lovely locomotive whistle — we'll say it was borrowed — has been returned to the railways museum in Williamstown.

This newspaper reported its disappearance on April 21 and the plea for its return by the Railways Historical Society.

It has great historical and sentimental value because of its extraordinary mellow tone.

Mr. Eric Quinlan writes on behalf of the society's museum committee.

"I would like to convey our appreciation of the coverage given in your paper.

"You will be interested to know, after your article, the whistle was returned (anonymously) to the museum and is now in safe keeping."

Creek mouth to be preserved

The mouth of Kororoit Creek, which divides the municipalities of Williamstown and Altona, is to be preserved as a botanical reference area.

The creek mouth features mangroves and other growth not normally found in the Melbourne metropolitan area.

The move to preserve the area came from the Williamstown Council and was approved by Altona.

The board was asked to investigate. It told councillors that it believes the creek mouth "to be suitable for con-

WIFE'S COURT PLEA PREVENTS JAIL

A strong plea by a man's wife persuaded Mr. D. Scully, SM, in Williamstown Court, not to send him to jail following hit-run and .05 convictions.

Bodgan Pandelewski, of Blyth Street, Altona, was charged with failing to give his name and address after an accident causing damage; driving with a blood alcohol content exceeding .05; and with driving without a licence.

He pleaded guilty to all charges.

Constable Anthony John Gregg, of Altona, said at 9.30 p.m., on January 6, he went to Millers Road, Altona, where he saw a car half on the nature strip, with damage to its right-hand side.

He went to 190 Blyth Street, where he spoke to the registered owner of the car, and then Pandelewski went with him to the Altona police station.

In an interview, Pandelewski had said no-one had asked him for his name and address after the accident.

He had said he did not have a licence, and had never held one. His reason for driving the car, which belonged to his wife, was that he wanted to go out.

He said he had drunk about 13 pots of beer.

Const. Gregg said his breath test reading had been .220.

To the prosecutor, Sergeant J. Sheehan, Pandelewski admitted having been convicted on a .05 charge, and of driving with no licence in Williamstown, on December 5, 1974, and being fined a total of $120 and disqualified from holding a licence for 12 months.

To Mr. J. Scully, SM, and Mr. Keith Fuller, JP, on the Bench, Pandelewski said he had nothing to say and placed himself at the mercy of the court.

He had a wife and three children.

He was a forklift driver with a regular job.

Mr. Scully: "I think you have just about qualified yourself for a term of imprisonment."

"These are identical charges to those you charged guilty to no so long ago."

Pandelewski's wife was then given leave to make a statement to the court.

She said "Bob is an alcoholic. We have been to A.A."

"It is my fault he went out alone that night, I would not go with him."

"Whatever you do to him today I will stand by him."

"Basically, underneath, he is a good man."

"He is already facing a lot from the accident. My car has cost $800 to fix and we are paying for the car he hit."

"I ask that in the interest of the children this not be published..."

Mr. Scully: "I will not make any order like that. It will be his problem to explain what he has done to his children."

"I think it is important that people in the community know that these things are going on."

"We have taken into account what we have heard and decided not to send you to jail."

"Jail is a last resort."

"There is a lot you can do for yourself before this final resort is reached."

"You can take treatment. In this state there is an assessment centre, Pleasant View, at Preston."

"You will never get any licence until you can satisfy a court that you have conquered this drinking problem."

Mr. Scully told Pandelewski he was fined $25 for not leaving his name and address; $175 on the .05 charge; and $300 on the licence charge.

He also ordered that he be disqualified from obtaining a licence for three years, and that he be licensed only on the order of a magistrate.

Woman on six charges after row

By John Dixon

A young Altona woman is facing six charges, after police were called to a disturbance at a South Kingsville house last Thursday night.

It is claimed that when police arrived at the house, in Truman Street, the woman had a sheath knife under her jacket. Told she was under arrest, she threatened to slash police about the face, they claim.

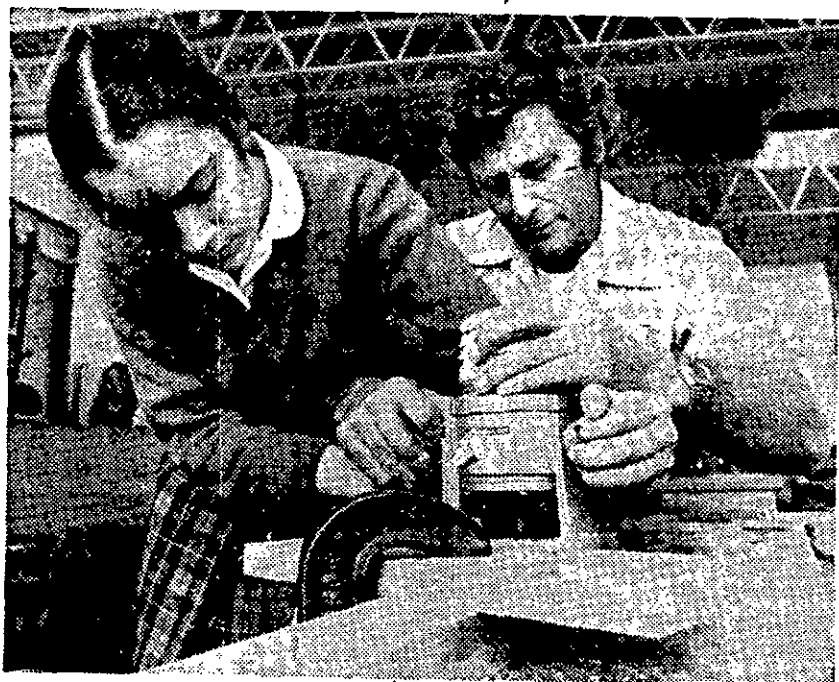

She became violent and kicked in a headlight in the police divisional van.

During the argument she swore continually and made constant threats to police and others, it is alleged.

She was eventually arrested and taken to Footscray police station for questioning.

An unemployed 18-year-old Altona woman was later charged at Footscray watch-house with being armed with an offensive weapon, wilful damage resisting arrest, assaulting police, using threatening words and using indecent language in public.

Councils band together to fight saleyards

The west's nine councils have banded together to fight the Victorian Government's proposal to move the Newmarket saleyards complex to Derrimut.

The commission will also ask the Premier to launch a full study into decentralising the meat industry.

This would mean all meat would be killed in country centres.

Meanwhile, Sunshine Council officers and parliamentarians recently sent a deputation to Agriculture Minister, Mr. Smith, opposing the Derrimut project.

And Footscray's mayor, Cr. Jack Bristow said his council was not opposed to the battle to stop the Derrimut project. Footscray Council is anxious to get rid of the Newmarket sale and killing area, but does not see it necessarily having to go to Derrimut.

The commission will tell Mr. Hamer that the plan to establish the Derrimut saleyards was formed 50 years ago.

Now there were more than 10,000 people living in the area.

Mr. Hamer will be told that Cherry Creek would be grossly polluted as a result of the saleyards.

Cherry Lake — the west's major environmental project at Altona, could be wrecked by pollution, which would eventually add to the pollution already following into the Bay.

The commission claims the buffer zone around the 380 acre saleyards and abattoir site would be inadequate.

It says there would be a problem with run-off water going into Cherry Lake.

Executive secretary of the WRC, Mr. John Thompson, said the meat industry was supposed to have looked at the possibility of decentralising the metropolitan meat industry.

But no detailed study had been made, he said.

Another aspect of the saleyards would be the added burden it would place on all transport facilities in the west.

The commission believes the saleyards proposal was feasible 50 years ago — when it would have been out in the country, well away from residential areas.

"If it was important to get the saleyards and killing complex away from residential areas then, it is more important to do so now," Mr. Thompson said.

Deputy chief planner at Sunshine, Joe Duffen, told the Star Advertiser a report outlining a strategy for the Derrimut proposal for the Star-Advertiser a re-

LIONS NEED HALL

Most Altona service clubs are forced to hold their meetings outside the district because of Altona's hall shortage, Lions Club president Alan Burkitt said yesterday.

He told The Star that community groups like the Lions, Jaycees and Apex had to meet in Williamstown or Werribee.

"Altona Council is spending money elsewhere, so why can't it find a little money to provide a hall for organisations working for the community's benefit," he said.

"The only places available here are the Civic Centre and the Finnish Hall — and both are almost impossible to book on a regular basis.

"The Homestead rooms are too small for most groups, and the golf club house is available only to members.

"So what are we left with? We're left with the bigger hotels, like the Tarmac at Laverton, where the Lions have to meet."

Mr. Burkitt said both the Civic Centre and the Finnish Hall were too expensive to hire when catering was also considered.

The Civic Centre is rented out by the council at a flat rate of $75 a night, the Finnish Hall at about $40.

Councillors last month agreed to the compulsory acquisition of two blocks of land in Nicholson Street, Altona Meadows, to provide halls for youth welfare groups in the district.

The land is at lots 47 and 50 Nicholson Street.

However, following the preparation of the necessary legal documents, maps and plans, the council ran into local government department opposition.

The department is demanding further details of the Council's proposal for the halls.

Negotiations are still under way.

Fun musical at Willi

Once Upon A Mat-tress, a mediaeval musical romp presented by the Williamstown Light Opera Company, got off to a fine start last Friday.

The show, loosely based on the old fable of the Princess and the Pea, kept the first night audience well entertained, and big audiences are expected for the rest of the season.

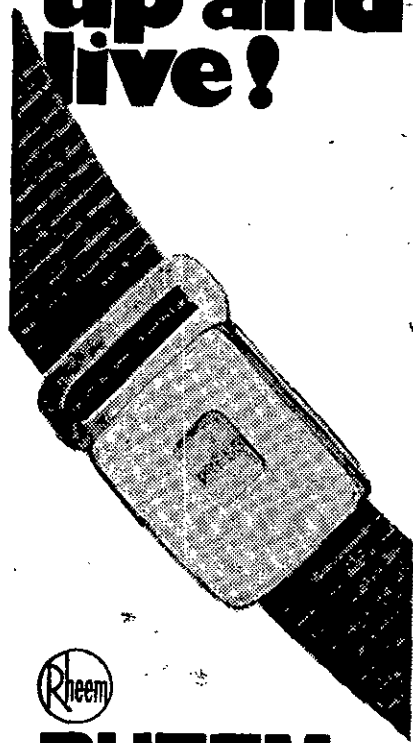

The show will continue on May 20, 21 and 22 at the Williamstown Technical School assembly hall.

Bookings can be made at the Three in One shop, Douglas Parade, Williamstown, or by phone 397 8012.

The show was a smash hit on Broadway, with Carol Burnett in the lead role as the Princess.

Julie Findlay, well-known for her work with local theatres, takes the role of Princess Winifred, with Derek Edwards as King and Phil Davidson the queen.

Fetes, fairs, auctions, stalls are part of the city scene.

Voluntary organisations gather foods, fancy goods, trash and treasures, furniture, newspapers, cans, books and turn them into hard cash to nourish the service they are concerned to provide.

Women are the front line of all voluntary service it seems. They have skills in making something out of nothing, and turning waste into silver.

Behind the women are the men. Men don't like the limelight at such times, but they are happy to drive, collect, repair, and help in all sorts of ways.

Women and men in voluntary service. This is my city's salute to these people. A city can appear to be a callous place, but in every city, our city included, there is a wealth of concern, quiet concern.

Talk with the mayor some time, whoever he may be, and he will tell you of his surprise that there are literally dozens of groups at work caring for someone or something.

Most of us could list 10 or even 20 such groups, but to count the total really needs the fingers and toes of several people.

My city pays this tribute to the massive energy displayed by its women and menfolk in voluntary service gladly given, attempting to equalise the quality of life at the highest level for all the people.

The aim is not yet reached, but so many are trying and are not giving up. The best is yet to be.

VERA WELLS

Altona

It seems little short of a tragedy to see the old powder-magazine pier being allowed to rot away.

On most days you can see a group of fishermen on the end of it and I'm sure more would make use of it if it was repaired enough to make it possible to walk out on it in safety.

With housing growth expected in that area and the parkland that is being developed along the beach near it, I believe the old pier would be a great asset.

Most people who go to the beach for a break seem to enjoy a walk out on a pier, when one is available.

This was a very popular area in the old days for beach parties and, as it was at that time very isolated, there was a lot of moonlight bathing in the nude when the parties really got swinging.

An old song about Altona has a reference to mermaids.

The west end of our beach promises to be a very beautiful area and is one that we can all watch grow.

If our council could only get some co-operation from the Government and be allowed to go on with its plans we will have another lovely corner to our city.

Jail and a $1620 bill

Jobless man took car to strip parts

A young South Kingsville man, out of work, and with his unemployment benefits withdrawn, stole a car to strip and sell for parts.

He was found out, and now faces one month in jail and the need to repay a total of $1620 in fines and restitution at the rate of $20 a week.

He is Michael Robert Morgan, 21, laborer, of Blackshaw's Road South Kingsville.

He pleaded guilty in Williamstown Court last Thursday to stealing a car, driving without a licence, possessing Indian hemp and smoking it.

Mr. D. Scully SM, and Mr. Keith Fuller, JP, sentenced him to jail for one month for stealing the car, one month for driving without a licence, the sentences to be served concurrently.

For possessing the drug he was fined $250 and for smoking it $50.

A charge of possessing car parts reasonably believed to be stolen was adjourned.

In two records of interview, read to the court, Morgan admitted having gone to the McLeod railway station in his own car.

He saw an unlocked Holden and drove it to his own home.

He intended to strip it and sell it for parts.

He then went back to McLeod by train and drove his own car home.

Two pipes found in his house by the police were his. He used them to smoke Indian hemp.

Some Indian hemp seeds in a matchbox were his.

Morgan's counsel, Mr. J. M. Cashmore, said he came from Echuca, where he was one of a family of seven.

He left school at 14, and had no skills.

He became unemployed before Christmas, and early in February lost his unemployment benefits when he could not take a job in Deer Park because of difficulties with public transport connections.

Mr. Cashmore said Morgan had since obtained work with a boat firm in Williamstown and was now earning $130 a week clear.

He was living in a de facto relationship with two children of his own and one child of his wife's sister, whom he had unofficially adopted.

At the time of the offences in late March, he was desperate for money.

He did not pay for the cannabis found in his house. Friends gave it to him.

Morgan had found himself in his teens with a severe drinking problem, and had some drunk and disorderly convictions.

It was to his credit that he had now beaten this problem and was a teetotaler.

Young planner gets help

Williamstown Council has agreed to help a local student in his design project for the Melbourne State College.

The student, W. J. Kemp, of Rosshire Road, West Newport, wrote to the council saying that in the course of his studies he is required to design "something beneficial for Williamstown."

He said he was considering design for the Williamstown rifle range.

"I understand that the council has planned, or is planning to carry out a similar study, and if this is so, a general exchange of ideas would be at the least, of some value," he said.

Councils talk on planning

Talks between Altona and Williamstown councils will be held soon to consider drawing up a submission to the Western Region Council for Social Development.

The originator of the request for the meeting, Mr. Bob Sercombe, chairman of the WRCSD, last year, has become town's new director of social welfare and he will take part in the talks on behalf of Williamstown.

Skateboard film on in W'town

A full-length, color, feature film on skateboarding, will be shown at the Williamstown Town Hall tomorrow (May 13) in a one-day holiday programme.

Called The Ultimate Flex Machine, it features, among others, Russ Howsler and Torger Johnson, who were in Australia recently.

The programme will be on twice at Williamstown, beginning at noon and 2.30 — admittance $2 for adults, $1 children.

Michael Middleton, who did the hair-raising photographic work in the film, sped at take part in the talks on up to 40 mph filming skateboarders.

As the vehicles drew level, they heard a shouting noise from the car.

The police van made a "U" turn and overtook the car. When they stopped the car, Cawless was driving.

His eyes were bloodshot and his breath smelt of liquor, a police witness said.

A Breathalyser test at Yarraville police station later returned a reading of .105 per cent. Cawless pleaded guilty.

To Sergeant Kevin Icely, prosecuting, Cawless said he could not remember a conviction for allowing an unlicensed driver to drive a motor cycle.

Sgt. Icely quoted the conviction date and a licence number Cawless admitted was his.

Cancelling his licence, Mr. W. Guy SM, warned Cawless the only penalty a court could impose if he was convicted of driving while disqualified was imprisonment.

Brown boots 10 goals as Gulls beat Sunshine

Mike Brown kicked 10 goals in Williamstown's easy victory over Sunshine on Sunday. The Seagulls were much too good for the Crows and 121 points separated the teams at the close of the game.

It was the usual fiery clash between the sides, and Barry Fitzpatrick found it a hard one to umpire.

Willi was first away and Ron Page goaled. But it was after the Gulls' second, kicked by Peter Gardner, that the "blues" began.

Then it was everyone in ... players rushed from all parts of the ground. Order was finally restored, and things stayed relatively calm until quarter-time. The Gulls, at that time, led by 16 points.

Just into the second quarter, Gardner goaled running in, soon followed by another from John Fanning.

Sunshine replied through Wright, and were getting to within only points of Willi when the pressure was applied.

Peter Gardner goaled again and Mike Brown at full-forward was a delight to watch.

In the meantime, more incidents started up all over the field, and the umpire was kept busy.

At half-time, the Gulls were in front by 21 points.

After the break, Brown really burst on to the scene, quickly scoring two majors. Page and Dickson followed with another two, and the Gulls were well away.

Mal Allan had not come back into play after the interval — he was being treated for a broken wrist.

His place was taken by Greg Tweedly, and Bob Percy now skippered the crew.

Brown booted his sixth goal, and Col Boyd, running down the field, also proved accurate, showing that a centre half-back can be a very versatile player.

It was a great day for the Gulls, with 7.5 being kicked in the last quarter. Scores: Gulls 5.5, 9.15, 16.19, 23.24 (162). Crows 3.1, 7.6, 9.8, 12.9 (81).

Goals: Brown 10, Gardner 4, Jeff Scott 3, Page 2, Boyd, Daryl Dickson, Peter Harley and John Fanning.

Best: Fanning, Brown, Cross, Page, Kerr, Percy, Gardner, Alexander.

RESERVES

A very scramble game at Skinner Reserve on Saturday showed both Williamstown and Sunshine in poor light.

Scores: Sunshine 11.24 (90) d. Williamstown 9.14 (68). Goals: Vanden Oever 4, Foote 2, Watson, Hickkey and Moore.

Best: Burgess, Evans, Moore, Vanden Oever, Watson, Jackson.

Thirds: Williamstown 11.10 (76) d. Sunshine 10.11 (71). Goals: Nash 3, Charman, Smith, Taylor 2, Goetz, Eustace, Best: Mitchell, Pavlidis, Hynes, Taylor, Smith, Murphy, Nash.

Baseball boys win at last

With the return of Alan Harris and Neil Pedretti to the Williamstown baseball seniors, the side beat Oakleigh for its first win this season.

Williamstown won the match 4-0, and showed up as a much improved side, capable of good team play.

Safe Hits: Horsburgh, Pedretti 2, Baker and Flower.

In B2 Oakleigh beat Williamstown 10-2. Safe Hits: Humphries, Dougall and McKenzie.

Western Zone: Melbourne University defeated Williamstown 12-5. Safe Hits: Knight 2, Vines, Thorburn, Messina. Best: Sturrock, Presti and Vines.

Under-15: Newport defeated Williamstown 9-2. Best was S. Harris.

Under-13: Sunshine (1) defeated Williamstown 18-2. Best: Kenny, Radford, Morrow. Williamstown (2) defeated Newport (2) 17-15. Best: Pensini, Taggart, Page.

Vikings take tough game from Brooklyn

The Vikings outlasted Brooklyn in a hard-hitting game at Wembley Park on Sunday to win by five goals.

In the curtainraiser, the Viking reserves stole the limelight with a brilliant display of teamwork and play-on football. They won by 17 goals.

The seniors can thank their backline for holding off a determined Brooklyn team as their forwards blasted away at goals, missing many easy chances.

The teamwork and backing-up which was the key to last year's premiership, has deserted the Vikings so far this season.

Rover Gordon Wilson and diminutive winger,

Steve Stiles were two who showed that size isn't everything. Wilson ended the day with four goals and Stiles gave the forwards many opportunities.

Ian Roberts continued his good form in the ruck, but is not getting much support. The expected return of Ian (Red Dog) Macleod to the team will lift this department.

Scores: Altona City 11.18 (85) d. Brooklyn 8.6 (54).

Best: G. Wilson, S. Stiles, I. Roberts, P. Mil-denhall, A. Donnelly, A. Wilson.

Goals: G. Wilson 4, Donnelly 3, A. Walgers 2, G. Bebed, A. Wilson, G. Morgan.

RESERVES

After two poor performances, the reserves had a welcome return to form at the expense of Brooklyn. Every player contributed to the great win which was never in doubt after a seven goal first quarter.

The placement of Donny Hyett in the centre and Garry Sorrell's play all over the ground were features of the game. Hyett continually broke away from the centre to drive the ball forward.

Young rover Steve Shiels, playing only three days after a nose operation, kicked seven good goals.

Scores: Altona City 20.15 (135) d. Brooklyn 5.4 (34).

Goals: Shiels 7, B. Mil-denhall 3, J. Duggan, S. ton.

Grainger, T. Hogan, G. Sorrell 2, P. Itter, M. Campbell.

Best: Sorrell, Hyett, E. Puhar, J. Davey, S. Grainger, K. Bebed, S. Shiels.

Under-13: Altona City d. ANBY without much effort. Chris Brown started with four goals.

Scores: City 11.9 (75) d. ANBY 3.1 (19).

Best: C. Brown, C. Parker, C. Money, G. Ferry, W. Geering.

Goals: Brown 4, R. Ry-croft, W. Geering 2, B. Scholes, B. Schmidt, A. Owen.

Under-12: The boys seem to be playing below their ability. Good games from Colin Skerry (CHB) and Steven Robinson (wing), could not prevent a big loss to Williamstown City 1.1 (7), W. 11.5 (71).

Best: C. Skerry, S. Robinson, A. Baldwin, S. Conratti, J. Field.

Goal: R. Schubach. Under-11: Altona City 3.5 (23) lost to Maidstone 3.7 (25).

Best: M. Robinson, A. Hudson, D. Cooper, A. Teagle, N. Barnes.

Goals: D. Cooper, N. Barnes, P. Stewart.

Under-10: Altona City 4.2 (26) d. Maidstone 0.2 (2).

Senior, junior and supporters membership tickets are now available from the club. Supporters are reminded of the country and western dance on Friday night, May 14, at the Memorial Hall, Laver-ton.

Centrals: by 30 goals

Central Altona kicked a massive total of 32 goals and 27 behinds against a poorly performing Maidstone on Sunday.

Dominating play all over the ground, the Central forwards took full advantage of their superiority and after a 10-goal burst in the first quarter, coasted to an easy victory.

Scores: Centrals 32.17 (219), Maidstone 2.5 (17). Goals: R. Hetherton 8, C. Peat 6, C. Carroll 5, N. Panagiotios 3, I. Bailey, Sturicks, P. Limbrick, W. Kennedy, G. Dilby 2.

RESERVES

Scores: Centrals 14.11 (73), Hoppers Crossing 7.15 (57).

2 boys win on way to Duntroon

Two western-suburbs schoolboys — Stephen Fewster, of Williamstown, and Peter Hill, of Deer Park — are among 50 young Australians awarded Royal Military College scholarships.

The scholarships, worth $400 each, will help the boys with fees and books during their matriculation year.

On passing the Higher School Certificate, the boys will become officer cadets and do a four-year course at Duntroon.

They will do military and academic studies leading to a bachelor's degree or diploma in arts, science or engineering.

Stephen will receive his scholarship at St. Paul's Altona, on May 24, and Peter will get his at the Sunshine High School on the same day.

West Newport toss CYMS

Four goals against a strong wind in the third quarter enabled West Newport to score a comfortable win against Williamstown CYMS on Saturday.

Final scores were West Newport 13.17.95 to Williamstown CYMS 11.13.79.

After an even battle in the first half, with neither side able to capitalise on the wind advantage, West's fighting effort against the wind in the third term took them to within 11 points of CYMS going into the last quarter.

Although CYMS defended stoutly in the last quarter, West gradually got on top and drew away in the concluding stages.

Best Players: Ray Broughton, Carrington, R. Chitty, Johnston, Leighton, Leonard. Goals: Hatzil 5, Carrington 2, Cavanagh 2, Pitt 2, W. Chitty, Leighton.

Top spot to hockey boys

Altona hockey seniors moved to the top of the ladder after their good win over Moorabbin at the weekend.

The seniors beat Moorabbin 3-2.

Play opened at a very fast pace, and Altona was able to score early with Rick Purser netting a fine shot from a long corner.

However, a fault noticed in earlier games was again to the fore, when defence errors allowed the opposition in for two goals in five minutes.

Consequently Moorabbin led 2-1 at half-time. Then Altona began the fight back, with solid and crumbly play taking over the match.

Allan Challis scored from a penalty stroke, and Morris Burgess followed up with another winner from a penalty corner.

Best: M. Krol, A. Challis, I. Daley and R. Purser.

B Grade: Altona beat Frankston 3-2 in a game of fluctuating fortunes.

Altona began with a goal from Steven Ranger, and still led by that goal at half-time.

Frankston, after the break, found the net for two well-played goals, and the Altona defenders floundered.

Ian Bennet brought Altona back into calculations with a score, and Fred Roadley finally sealed Frankston's fate with a winner in the time-on period.

Best were R. Byrne, S. Ranger and W. Lenszyn.

C Grade: Frankston beat Altona 2-0, with the help of several B Grade players included in the side.

Best for Altona were: B. Neyland, W. Moffatt and C. White.
